CIVIL MATTERS

Will Claim Attention of Court This Week.

Few cases of much importance to the public have been disposed of as yet. Only common law cases are being heard and the commonwealth docket will not be resumed until next week.

The suit of M. E. Nolen against the city was tried Saturday and the jury on yesterday returned a verdict for plaintiff for $61.75, the amount of the suit. The plaintiff alleged that the salt which was stored in a barn stable on West Seventh street, was badly damaged by the flooding of the building, the overflow, it was claimed, being caused by the faulty construction of sewers.

In the suit of Dr. T. P. Allen, against L. McComb & Co., the jury returned a verdict for plaintiff for $30.

Hattie Elkins was granted a divorce from her husband, Robert Elkins, Jr.

FORMER CITIZEN

Of This County Died at Abilene Texas, Yesterday.

Mr. John B. Bell, who went to Abilene, Texas, from this county 20 years ago died yesterday morning about 2 o'clock aged 80 years.

Mr. Bell was one of our most substantial farmers and owned what is now known as the "Morrow Farm," about two miles from the city on the Clarksville pike. Since he moved to Texas he had made his home at Abilene.

A telegram announcing Mr. Bell's death was received by his nephew, Mr. George Taylor, yesterday. The remains will be interred in Abilene. The deceased is survived by his two sons, Messrs. John and Jack Bell, who live in Abilene. Mrs. W. R. Thomson is a niece of the deceased.

STREET SPRINKLING

At Expense of Property Owners to be Voted On.

The Henderson Glenner is going to take the sense of the people, by ballot, as to whether the streets of the city should be sprinkled during the coming summer at the expense of the property owners.

Last summer the streets of Hopkinsville needed sprinkling, more than any previous year. The question as to who ought to pay the bills is a hard one to solve.

LETTER NO. 2, MILLARD A. JENKENS.

Funchal, Madeira, Feb. 25.—Speaking of steamships, reminds me of the experience meeting I heard about. One old brother got up and said, "Brethering, I'm aboard the old ship o' Zion, and she's a monstrous ship. She's a ship of 15,000 horse power, runnin' at the rate of fifteen knots an hour, an' soon she'll steam into the harbor of the blessed."

Another old brother arose and said, "Brethering, I'm on that same old ship, but she 'pears to me to be a bigger ship than that. She's a ship of 20,000 horse power an' a runnin' at the rate of 20 knots an hour, and soon, ah, soon! she'll drop her anchor in the harbor of the blessed."

Then an old woman arose. She said, "I'm bound for that same kentry, but I aint goin' by no steamship. For forty year I've been a takin' it afoot, an' it 'pears now as I will continue to foot it; an' if the bretherings what's a goin' by steam don't mind, they're a goin' to bust their bilers."

Sight seeing has begun. The wonder is if one small head will hold all that is to be learned. What a change from water, water everywhere. The island of Madeira is a delightful surprise. The island has a population of 150,000, 50,000 of these being in Funchal, the capital. The island belongs to Portugal. This island was once the home of Columbus. He married his wife here, Menina Perestrelo, whom he met at a school in Portugal. Cupid drove the arrow to the right spot, and Christopher followed Menina to her beautiful island home, and married her. On the street where his house stood is a modern building with a tablet bearing his name.

The island is only 13x33 miles, rising in some portions to a height of 5,000 feet. The streets of the city are narrow and paved with small, round stones. The means of street travel is the "bull car," a two seated vehicle on runners like a sled, drawn by oxen.

A steam cog road carries you two miles up the mountain, and a kind of toboggan, guided by a swift runner, brings you down at a speed of five minutes to the mile. I felt very much towards the two old men who guided my toboggan like Mark Twain felt towards his little donkey in Egypt, when he decided to walk awhile and let the donkey ride. Another means of street travel is the "rede," a kind of hammock carried by two robust natives.

This is a country where you can feel rich. It takes 1,000 reis to make a dollar, and a 20 reis piece is fully as large as our half dollar. The people are poor. Bergams abound, yet from the splendor gardens, vineyards and cane fields, you are not altogether indolent. On the whole, they seem to be a thrifty people.

This is a Catholic stronghold, and as in all these eastern Catholic countries, religion is little more than a Sixteenth century superstition. There is a Methodist mission here under the leadership of Dr. Smart, but he tells me that it was difficult to make headway. Strictly speaking, every meeting he holds is a violation of law. The mission is simply tolerated, not recognized by law. It was my privilege, along with a few others of the cruise, to speak at this mission. It was the first time I ever spoke a word for Jesus, when I was really breaking the law to do it.

The missionaries and the native members of the mission gave a special service for the large number of visitors, but only about twenty of us were there. But what a feast we had! The ball at the Casino, one of the most notorious gambling resorts this side the Atlantic, drew a larger number. I suppose these Christian pilgrims on their way to the land where Jesus lived, thought they could do the people more good by giving a ball at the Casino, showing them how little difference there is in the real Christian article in America, and in this devil possessed island across the sea, and by lending a bit of real Christian respectability to this notorious resort of sin.

God pity the preacher whose church is composed of such men and women at home. When I see a poor little preacher fretting, and pulling, and puffing, wearing his life out trying to make the work go with that sort of going to curse his work, and break his heart, I am reminded of the story of the Irishman's team. He had a kicker, a butter, a stinger and a stinker—a mule, a billy goat, a bumblebee and a skunk. He got his load to market, but couldn't get his team in. I couldn't help but ruminate, as Bill Arp would say, a little. If the old ship should go down, who would die praising God, and who would die pleading for mercy, the church members who went to the mission, or the church members who went to the dance at the gambling resort? A man with one eye and a half an ounce of brains could answer that question.

A card club has been organized aboard, presided over by a preacher. Do you wonder that he is in the list of "not wanted" in his denomination, and is without a charge? Certainly he is not wanted, and yet he has as much right before God and man to play cards as any church member in his denomination.

A dancing club also has been organized. The enthusiasm of visiting the land where Jesus lived and died, the land where was born our blessed gospel, seems to have settled in their heels rather than in their hearts.

On board a great ship with hundreds of passengers, you find, as you will find in any community, people professing Christ's name, who are like the trail of the fellow snake, "He wired in and wired out, and left the looker-on in doubt, Whether the snake was coming in, Or whether he was going out."

But for a Christian to live a compromised life, is hard on God.

I sold last week one hundred and ten thousand pounds of tobacco on my Loose Floor, and in an experience of nearly forty years I have never seen a more successful sale. I have now thoroughly satisfied that the Loose Floor is the place for the farmer to sell his tobacco. He gets the highest price, and his competition and pays a very small charge and gets the CASH and gets his tobacco in his hands before the crop is sold. Let me caution you not to get your tobacco too high nor too dry in order, as some of you are, that you will not have enough of moisture to make it show well. You had better decide and buy now. I will be glad to serve you.

A POE MEMORIAL

MONUMENT TO BE ERECTED TO THE GENIUS OF THE POET.

Richmond, Va., Desires to Honor His Literary Achievements Regardless of His Human F frailties.

There is not in all the world a monument to the memory of Edgar Allen Poe, considered by many as one of the great literary geniuses of America. Nowhere in all the world is there a towering shaft to tell the present and future generations that he lived and loved and died.

All that exists is a small stone to mark the lonely grave of the poet in a cemetery in Baltimore. At the University of Virginia the Zolony bust stands on its pedestal, the most pretentious work in marble or in bronze
to the memory of Poe.

A man unique in the world of letters, a genius as rare as the little blue flower that blooms in the snow on the Alpine heights, occupying a niche distinctly his own among the great men of the world, Poe sleeps the long sleep in his narrow bed, and the world has not honored him.

Born in Boston of pauper parents,

reared in adversity, unfortunate throughout his life, he gave to the world the greatest poems any American has ever written, and went to his ignominious death alone, his head

among the clouds while his feet stumbled among the paint pots and rubbish.

It is indeed befitting that the first real movement looking to a monument to this colossus among literary folk should emanate from Virginia,
the state in which he produced most of his good work, and in which he

Joseph E. Willard, President of Poe Monument Association.

spent probably the happiest years of his life.

It is indeed befitting that the monument should be erected in Richmond.
Poe's adopted home, where there still live men and women who knew the man and loved him. The movement has now reached a stage where the erection of the monument is no longer a thing to be hoped for, but an assured fact. The greater portion of the necessary money is already in hand and the donors are coming in every day from the friends of the genius all over the entire country.

With the advent of the spring the stage will be reached where the plans are drawn and the artist designated for the work has bent his mind upon the great theme with which he has to deal.

Charles Marshall Graves of the editorial force of the Times-Dispatch, a graduate of Richmond college, and a lifelong student of Poe, has probably done more than any other man to fur-ward the movement, which is now
just about to culminate successfully.

Col. Joseph E. Willard, former lieutenant governor of the state, and reputed to be the richest man in the south, is president of the Poe Monument Association. The association has been formally chartered by the state corporation commission under the laws of the state of Virginia, its purposes being distinctly set forth in the charter. Mrs. Susan Archer Weiss, the only living woman friend of the poet, is bending her energies
to the success of the movement.

The councils of the city of Richmond have appropriated $5,000 to the monument with the one proviso that an additional sum shall be raised on the outside before the fund shall become available. A similar fund had already practically been raised on the outside before the appropriation had been made.

It was because Poe had been refused place in the Hall of Fame account of his personal habits that his friends in the south built upon the idea of a monument to be erected in Richmond, where he spent the greater portion of his brilliant and checkered career.

The monument is to be erected not to commemorate the man, but to show to the world that what was human in him but that which was sublime.

Hard Requirement.

This curious official notice was once published in Germany: "At the request of Herr Wilhelm Leisgen of Lunenburg, the musician, Johann La-son, who was drowned in May, 1869,
on a journey from Stockholm to Hersburg in the Kaiser-Friedrich is hereby called upon by the courts to appear and report himself on or before April 1, 1881, under pain of being declared dead."

One of the Important Duties of Physicians and the Well-Informed of the World is to learn as to the relative standing and reliability of the leading manufacturers of medicinal agents, as the most eminent physicians are the most careful as to the uniform quality and perfect purity of remedies prescribed by them, and it is well known to physicians and the Well-Informed generally that the California Fig Syrup Co., by reason of its correct methods and perfect equipment and the ethical character of its product has attained to the high standing in scientific and commercial circles which is accorded to successful and reliable houses only, and, therefore, that the name of the Company has become a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy.

TRUTH AND QUALITY

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing, therefore we wish to call the attention of all who would enjoy good health, with its blessings, to the fact that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to that end and the use of medicines dispensed with generally to great advantage, but as in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time, the California Fig Syrup Co. feels that it is alike important to present truthfully the subject and to supply the one perfect laxative remedy which has won the approval of physicians and the world-wide acceptance of the Well-Informed because of the excellence of the combination, known to all, and the original method of manufacture, which is known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent of family laxatives, and as its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well-Informed of the world to be the best of natural laxatives, we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—
plainly printed on the front of every package, whether you simply call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—is the one laxative remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup
Co. and the same heretofore known by the name—Syrup of Figs—which has given satisfaction to millions. The genuine is for sale by all leading druggists throughout the United States in original packages of one size only, the regular price of which is fifty cents per bottle.

Every bottle is sold under the general guarantee of the Company, filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, D. C., that the remedy is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906.

Chilian Oddities.

There are some oddities in Chili connected with the sphere of woman that deserve mention. One is that women act as conductors of the street cars. Everywhere the passenger meets the woman conductor armed with her bag, and collecting the coins fully as well as her masculine competitor, and much more politely. In the shoe store all the "salesmen" are girls and women, and in the telegraph offices in city and country, young women are found as operators. And they do their work well, too. But to offset this, a Chilian hotel or boarding house and in many residences men do the work of the chambermaid. American ladies are always shocked to find that a man servant "takes care" of the sleeping women in the hotels of Chili. —From "Haroun al Raschid in South America," by Sandy Broad.

The Voice of Wisdom.

"If I ever have another chance to marry a widow I'll select one who became that way in the courts."

"Why?"

"I will then have reasonable grounds for believing that she'll not be continually boring me with remarks about the goodness of her first husband." —Chicago Record-Herald.

From Behind the Counter.

"The saleslady differentiated several classes of shoppers."

"Oh, yes, indeed. About five classes."

"So many?"

"Yes." (mademoiselle counted on her fingers) "heavy weight, middle weight, feather weight, half-weight and feather weight. Precisely five." —Pittsburgh Courier.

A STYLISH GIMPE FROCK.

Pattern No. 5716.—The graceful lines of this little dress render it very becoming to the youthful figure. It is made to wear over a gimp, and slips on easily over the head. A circular collar is a pretty feature of the mode. Slashes are made in the ends through which a broad silk tie is passed and tied in front. The edges of the slashes are either bound or buttoned with silk. The sleeve caps are cut open to the shoulders and are trimmed with buttons and simulated buttonholes. The heavy washable materials as well as the soft woolsens are adaptable. For a girl of six years two and one-eighth yards of 36-inch material will be required. Sizes for 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 years.

This pattern will be sent to you on receipt of ten cents. Address all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give size and number of pattern wanted.

Our Pattern Department

A DAINTY NEGLIGEE.

Pattern No. 5748.—A pretty negligee cut on the simplest lines is here shown in a development of pink dotted dimity. Gathers in the front and back adjust the fullness to a slightly rounded yoke, and an Empire belt lends a dressy air to the garment, although its use is a matter of individual taste, and may be omitted if desired. The modish sleeve is finished by a turned back cuff and a round collar completes the neck. Cashmere, challis, lawn, dimity and satin silk will all reproduce successfully. For 36-inch bust measure three and three-eighths yards of 36-inch material will be required. Sizes for 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure.

This pattern will be sent to you on receipt of ten cents. Address all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give size and number of pattern wanted.

He Quizzed Douglas.

One day a wealthy western manufacturer visited Brockton, Mass., and among the other sights of the city had to visit the Douglas shoe factory. The proprietor personally conducted the visitor through the works. Taking up a shoe, Mr. Douglas said: "Our latest novelty, excellent work, isn't it?"

"It's all right," said the visitor, with a twinkle in his eye, "but you can't hold a candle to the goods we turn out in the west."

"Same line?" asked the ex-governor, with some dignity.

"No," said the other, "ours is gunpowder."

The Presidential election is approaching. "Times have changed. That is all. Mr. Watterson is a Democrat, and has always been a Democrat, never a Republican. Essential differences out of the way, Democrats are getting together." The Courier-Journal is going to support the ticket. And there you have it.

The appellate division of the Supreme Court of New York has decided against Mayor McClellan in the matter of re-counting the votes cast in 1905. A recommendation is made that all the questions involved be submitted for final hearing.

The Thaw case still drags along. This salacious mess involving a libertine, a scapegrace and an unchaste chorus girl, is to take up ten weeks in the greatest city of the country. It should have been tried behind closed doors and finished in a week.

Judge Harrison, who tried the Bywaters-Strother case in Culpeper, Va., instructed the jury not to be influenced by the "unwritten law," but he evidently did not mean it, as after the verdict he said to the jury: "I thank you for a verdict which I think will be approved by the people. It is an established precedent in the State of Virginia that no man tried for defending the sanctity of his home should be found guilty."

Mr. H. P. Summers, editor of the Smith's Grove Times, and Miss Eula Frazer, of Richlandville, will be united in marriage at the Methodist church in Richlandville to-day. Miss Frazer is the accomplished daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. A. G. Frazer. Mr. Summers was voted the handsomest member of the Kentucky Press Association at the annual meeting at Grayson Springs last summer.

The Kentucky State Summer School for teachers will open this year on June 10th, and continue six weeks. Every indication points to the largest attendance in the history of the Summer School. The faculty has been strengthened and the course of study enlarged until Kentucky teachers can now find in the Normal Department of our own State College advantages equal to those offered anywhere. Write to Prof. Milford White for a Bulletin of the Summer School.

MISS MARY STONER

Elected to Faculty in Greenville, S. C., College.

The Southern School Journal of Lexington says:

"Miss Mary Stoner, who recently completed the State Diploma Course in the Normal department, has been elected to a chair in Greenville Female College, Greenville, S. C. She is much pleased with her new position, and recently wrote Prof. White, saying: 'It is never more than six weeks from Kentucky State College to promotion.'"

WE MIGHT

Have Many Things We Need—But We Won't.

Hopkinsville could have a great many things by an effort to get them—but we won't. For instance: A union passenger station—but we won't.

A handsome postoffice building—but we won't.

A public park in the heart of the city—but we won't.

A drinking fountain on Main street—but we won't—unless the Daughters of the Confederacy put it up.

A ladies society for beautifying the city—but we won't—unless somebody takes the initiative.

A society for the prevention of cruelty to animals—but we won't.

The completion of the Y. M. C. A. building—but we won't—unless the ladies take the matter into their own hands.

Open air concerts during the summer in the beautiful half square in the rear of Hotel Latham—but we won't.

Let's of fine baseball—but we won't—from the way it looks now. Some way of keeping the dust down on streets most used—but we won't.

Calling public attention to the above is not intended to cast any reflection on anybody in particular, but only shows what we ought to have if our people would turn their attention to them and make a united effort to secure them, and if we should get half of them, we would be a little more to the front with other cities in the state in the way of progress.

JOHN SPIDEN

Suffers a Severe Stroke of Paralysis.

The condition of John Spiden, of near Julien, who suffered a paralytic stroke, was somewhat improved yesterday, though he is still confined to his bed. The stroke involved one entire side and he was rendered speechless. The attack came while Mr. Spiden was in bed and his condition was not discovered until the next morning.

In Trouble.

Horace Wilson, a half witted negro man was arrested Monday morning by officer Merritt. Early in the morning he appeared at the home of Mr. St. Clair Leavelle, on Virginia street, just outside the city limits, and, it is said was rather rough in his behavior, when he was told to leave the premises. Refusing, police headquarters was notified and officer Merritt got on his horse and arrested him and brought him to police headquarters. The case was turned over to Judge Breathitt for trial.

HOG CHOLERA

The Hog worm is the most Dangerous foe of the Hog

In almost every outbreak of cholera you will find the hogs very wormy. They get a hog out of condition and unthrifty. Then he is an easy prey to disease. The Snoddy Remedy will destroy every character of hog worm. Even the liver and lung worm, which are the most dangerous, are easily destroyed with the Snoddy Remedy. Ten cents worth of the Snoddy Remedy will clear out the worms and purify the blood of a hundred pound shoat, so that he will be worth one dollar or more in a few weeks than he would have gained without this remedy. Can't you afford to invest ten cents per head to make your shoats worth a dollar per head more than they will without this little investment? Then why waste time and feed on wormy runt hogs when it is easy to have them thrifty? It also prevents and cures Hog Cholera. Any practical farmer can stop the worst outbreak of cholera that ever came with it and restore his herd to thrift in a few days' time.

It is used and endorsed by the leading hog raisers of the country. Snoddy's free book on the care and management of hogs, so as to keep them thrifty and clear of cholera or worms, can be had by calling on The Planters Hide Co. Inc., Hopkinsville, Ky., and E. W. Stegar & Dixon, Masonville, Ky. They also keep the remedy for sale.

Successful Farmers! This will Interest You!

The above cut represents Clark's Double Action Cutaway Harrow. This is truly a remarkable tool. The following statements in regard to it have been thoroughly demonstrated:

It will cut from 28 to 30 acres, or will double cut 15 acres in a day. It is drawn by two medium horses. It will move 15,000 tons of earth one foot in a day. It can be set so as to move the earth but little, or at so great an angle as to move all the earth one foot. It keeps the surface true and the machine runs true in line of draft. This cannot be said of any other disc harrows.

The Clark Cutaway Harrows will cut and reduce the toughest sod to plant food quickly without the aid of a plow. Clark's Cutaway Harrows are intense and perfect cultivators of soil and are money makers. Every crop is increased 25 to 50 per cent. by their use. 300,000 farmers are now using them. The Journal Boxes are made of hard wood, soaked in oil, and will outwear any metal. The Disks are cutlery steel and never break. We also sell Clark's Cutaway Plows.

We have the exclusive sale of these tools and have just received a car load of them. You'll make a serious mistake to buy without seeing them.

OLDEST CITIZEN

In South Christian Dies at age of 95 Years.

Lafayette, Ky., March 11.—Gillum Ezell, probably the oldest man in Christian county, died at the home of his son, Birch Ezell, near Lafayette, at seven o'clock Saturday night. He succumbed to the increasing infirmities of extreme old age, as he was nearly 95 years old. A great part of his life had been spent in that vicinity. He reared a large family of boys, six or seven of whom survive him. All are grown. His wife died many years ago.

Mr. Ezell was a member of the Christian church. His burial took place Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

$1,000 A YEAR.

Should a Young Man With That Income Marry?

The question as to whether a young man with an income of only $1,000 a year should marry was discussed at length behind closed doors at Cleveland, Ohio, last week. There are plenty of young married men here who live on less than that amount. In fact there are plenty of them who get only $600 and manage to save a little, too, especially those whose wives try to help the poor fellows in their struggles for a living.

B. W. HARLOW.

A Victim of Bright's Disease, Died Sunday.

Mr. Burr W. Harlow, a well known farmer, but who for the past six months had been traveling for the Frick Threshing Machine Co., died Sunday afternoon at one o'clock aged 38 years. He and his family had rooms at Mrs. Sue C. Shanklin's, on South Virginia street. The cause of his death was Bright's disease. The deceased leaves a wife and one little son. Burial took place in Riverside cemetery yesterday.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

THE GRIP

Still Has a Strong Hold on This City.

Though it has not let loose its hold, the grip is not quite so prevalent as in the past two weeks. Many of those who have been shut in are beginning to show up again on the streets, but still there is "plenty of room for complaint," and they are complaining. The mortality in the city and county has been very light. The Inquirer says that in Owensboro there is so much of the dreaded disease that the force at the postoffice has been very much depleted and many of the stores are short of clerks.

Health in the Zone.

The high wages paid makes it a mighty temptation to our young artisans to join the force of skilled workmen needed to construct the Panama Canal. Many are restrained however by the fear of fevers and malaria. It is the knowing ones—those who have used Electric Bitters, who go there without this fear, well knowing they are safe from malarious influence with Electric Bitters on hand. Cures blood poison too, biliousness, weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Guaranteed by Hardwick, druggist, 25c.

Baby won't suffer five minutes after cramp if you apply Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil at once. It acts like magic.

NEW COMERS

Are Requested to Make Themselves Known.

The City Directory compiled up to Jan. 1st is now in press and persons who have come into the city since Jan. 1st, who will report themselves at once to the Kentuckian office, can get their names in the alphabetical lists, except the first few letters which are printed. Already about 40 white men, most of them with families, have been found who have moved to Hopkinsville since the census was taken. This part of the directory is without cost to those whose names are listed. Change of location can also be made for a few days longer. The book will be out in a few weeks.

CREATORE

And his Band of 60 at Tabernacle, April 5th.

It gives us great pleasure to make the above announcement, and we are sure the music loving public will hail with delight, the date of this world famous leader and band.

Creator is in Louisville at the Exposition, is being featured very extensively, and will approve the drawing card for this celebration. The date here is made possible only by our selling his dates at Bowling Green, Nashville, Owensboro and Evansville, thus taking up an entire week of his time. We have been in correspondence with the manager of this celebrated organization, for two seasons, trying to land them for our local public, but until this season, it has been impossible to attract attention, and get them interested.

Rates have been secured from the railroads, and a special train secured, which will bring in lots of out of town music lovers. We make the announcement early so you may make your arrangements to be here so you may enjoy this superior attraction.

REV. GEO. W. M'PHERSON

Will be Absent Next Sunday and Dr. Compton Will Preach For Him.

Rev. Geo. W. McPherson left for Owensboro yesterday to assist in a revival at First Baptist church of Owensboro, for ten days. His pulpit next Sunday will be filled morning and evening by Rev. T. N. Compton, the big evangelist, who is big in every way, physically, intellectually and in the reputation he enjoys all over the South as one of the strongest men of his denomination.

A feature of the service next Sunday morning will be the singing by Mrs. Barksdale Hamlett of "The Holy City." Rev. M. A. Jenkins will be on Mt. Calvary that day and before he left he requested Mrs. Hamlett to sing the song he selected on that day.

Another of Mr. Jenkins' letters appears in the Kentuckian today. These letters will appear regularly during his tour abroad.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood. It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how easily your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, as a soil on its merits by all the best druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Birmingham, N. Y., on every bottle.

A STRANGE FORECASTING

by CHAS. S. S. RICE.

Copyright, by Daily Story Pub. Co.

Miss Margaret Middleton heard the sound of the old-fashioned knocker at her front door. No one was there, but lying on the step was a tract of some kind. Miss Middleton took up the paper and turned back into the house.

There were four tracts devoted to the advertisement of the "wonderful powers of MIDDLETOWN GARDOL."

Among other things was the announcement that MIDDLETOWN GARDOL would remain in the city but that it was to be sold by mail order at the rate of $1.00 a bottle.

Miss Middleton took up the paper through carefully, then laid it away on her dressing table. It was a tract for no one excepted but the old her of a building, which she called home. For years she had let it for more than a few hours at a time, and the humdrum monotony of her daily existence was seldom disturbed. But she still indulged in the dream that had been hers since she was a girl, and never had quite desisted of some day resigning her epistolary for the more romantic estate of matrimony. Yet when Miss Middleton thought seriously of these things she knew in her heart there was but one in all the world for whom she ever cared to marry this way; and he—alas! it had been years since she even had heard of him.

She was in a reminiscent mood this morning. Several times she almost pronounced aloud a name, "Bertram," so vividly did memory portray the setting.

Later in the day she took up the soothsayer's folder again and glanced over its contents. "Your future revealed," was the caption of a long paragraph. Miss Middleton read it over for the third time, and realized that after all she was not free from the influence of the mystic wonders. "Yes," she said to herself, "I would like to know my future, and I am almost tempted to try."

As the day grew older the temptation grew stronger, and MIDDLETOWN GARDOL had won a patron.

MIDDLETOWN GARDOL received her patron with a beautiful grace and a charming cordiality which placed Miss Middleton at ease in her presence that she became ready almost to confide her closest secrets. But anything of this kind was not what MIDDLETOWN GARDOL wanted only an impression of her patron's thumb. This she secured in the ordinary way. But a few moments later she had produced an enlarged photograph of the impression, which she proceeded to study with the utmost care. Then she began to tell Miss Middleton a great many things about herself which the latter acknowledged to be absolutely correct; and her eagerness and earnestness increased as the soothsayer continued. But MIDDLETOWN GARDOL concluded presently by saying:

"You still have a long and happy life before you. But later, there is something you must do just as I tell you to do it. On the first day when Venus may be seen as the evening star before sunset, go into your garden and fall upon your knees by the love-vine tangle that surrounds your old fountain, and utter three times the name you love best; and an old friend's heart of yours will drop down to you from the sky."

At this time Miss Middleton gasped. Up to this time the soothsayer had said anything that transcended human possibilities; but now that a man should fall at her feet from the sky was more than Miss Middleton could grasp at that moment. MIDDLETOWN GARDOL smiled, for she could see that her patron had reached a point that tried her faith severely.

"This pending is a wonderful revelation to me as well as to you," she said, "nor is it given to me to tell you or to explain how this phenomenon is to come about; but I never yet have had reason to doubt any of the readings that appear to me, however inexplicable they at first may seem."

Miss Middleton found MIDDLETOWN GARDOL's words repeating themselves over and over in her mind, as from day to day she pondered the strange reading. She even looked up a current almanac and inquired into the position of Venus; and when she found that within a week, or ten days at the most, she would be able to see this beautiful planet while a part of the sun's rays still remained above the horizon, she became strangely excited. She debated with herself as to whether she should even carry out the formality which had been enjoined; although the peculiarly girlish little French woman had described accurately just such a love-vine tangle, surrounding an old fountain, as did actually exist in Miss Middleton's garden, which was a seductive, densely shaded, flowery and fragrant plot of ground entirely enclosed by a high, moss-grown stone wall, which effectively cut off from all chance observation from the street.

As the days passed, by Miss Middleton found herself watching the evening sky with a minute directing that told her she was slowly yielding to the necromancy of the soothsayer's words. And at last the day came when the evening star, pale and solemn, came into view while the sun's rays still glided the sky above the western hills. When she saw the star Miss Middleton's heart began to thump like a huge hammer inside of her, sending wave after wave of burning crimson to her cheeks, as she hesitated between her inclination to go to the garden and her fear of the foolishness of it all.

Finally the romance of her nature conquered, and she stole her way in among the dense shrubbery of the old garden. She crept to the love-vine tangle. There was no tree quite near, and this was now the brightest spot in the place. Miss Middleton glanced at the clear sky overhead a moment, then she bowed her head, while one last appeal of her material sense yielded place to the intoxication of mysticism and the hope of love. Slowly she sank to her knees and cried out with a profound longing from the depths of her soul:

"Bertram! Bertram! Bertram!"

At the same moment she lifted her eyes toward the heavens.

A sudden, quivering and tearing sound fell upon her ears, and she saw, descending out of the clear sky, a small, dark, winged creature, like a demon, with a fearful glare about the love-vine as "Miss Middleton's" feet. There was a thud, and the man lay still.

Miss Middleton screamed, clasped Miss Margery's lips, and she remained on her knees, motionless as a prayerful nun, for more than two minutes.

Then she rose, and she saw before her "Bertram" she sprang up, and putting her arms about the form, she dragged it out from among the vines.

"Oh, my dear, my dear, my dear!" she cried, "you are here! you are here! you are here!"

She hurried to a running fountain not far away and wet her handkerchief. Return to her feet, and she saw her face greatly, and as she looked into his eyes, she saw that he was dead.

GETTING RECRITS

HIG FORCE OF NEW SOLDIERS
NEEDED EACH YEAR.

The Largest Recruiting Station of West, That Located at Jefferson Barracks, Missouri.

The stuff out of which soldiers are made is picked up in the rough, crude state at the rate of about 20,000 head per year, and under the zealous hands of the drill master it soon becomes the trained soldier to defend the nation's bidding and defend her interests wherever they may lie. All recruits for our army are assembled, enlisted, drilled and instructed at one of three depots:
David's Island, New York; Columbus
barracks, Ohio, and Jefferson barracks, Mo. Jefferson barracks draws its recruits from recruiting stations scattered through the west and south.
They come from all classes of professions and callings which go to make up the great American nation.

The first place to which the recruit is introduced is the receiving barracks.
Next in order is an exhaustive bath,
taken under the supervision of a sergeant, who will advise the use of plenty of soap and water, as a generous government pays for it all.

After the bath the recruit goes across the hall to an examining room,
where the surgeon and recruiting officer
put him through a thorough, physical examination. A great majority of men who apply for enlistment are rejected physically. On account of the thoroughness of this examination we are believed to have as fine a body of men physically in our army as in any other in the world. After having his examination, the recruit is duly enlisted, has the articles of war read to him and is then solemnly sworn into the service of the United States. He has a short lecture delivered to him
by the recruiting officer on the crime, folly and idleness of desertion. He is then given a uniform and a sufficient quantity of underclothing, shoes and other necessities to fully equip him for his stay at the recruit depot.

The depot commander, Col. Evans, has made every effort toward instilling
in the mind of the recruit while at the depot the primary essentials of a soldier—cleanliness, manliness, implicit obedience to his superiors and a soldierly carriage and deportment, and his sole idea has been to send to the post to which the recruit may go a young American soldier who has a respect for his uniform, a pride in his profession, a man of whom his future
officers may be proud.

The recruit depot at Jefferson barracks was organized on August 10, 1906, in compliance with an act of congress appointed June 12, 1906,
and comprises six recruit companies, numbered 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, and 19. The first, second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth recruit companies are stationed at Fort Slocum, N. Y.; the seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh,

Lieut. Col. R. K. Evans, Commanding
Jefferson Barracks Recruit Depot.

twelfth and thirteenth companies are at Columbus barracks, Ohio.

These three depots organized under the provisions of the act of congress,
under the supervision of the secretary of war, were necessitated by the exigencies of the service, and in future will be maintained as schools of instruction for embryonic soldiers. The military secretary of the army is virtually the commanding officer of this regiment of 19 recruit companies consisting of the three battalions, and all correspondence and orders relating to members of these companies go to him direct.

A new feature in connection with the enlistment of recruits for military service is the complete identification record prepared under the supervision of officers trained for the purpose
at the three depots, which includes a best picture of the recruit, with his signature on cardboard, shown on the breast in each photo, besides a figure card showing all marks on the body of the recruit and his thumb impressions.
At the depot at Jefferson barracks, Surgeon James D. Fife, medical department, assisted by Corp. Arthur O.
Butler, signal corps, and trained members of the hospital corps, prepare this identification record, which is forwarded direct to the surgeon general of the army at Washington for future reference and identification. With this system in vogue it will be an utter impossibility for a soldier to be re-enlisted in the service after having been discharged dishonorably or on concurrent certificate of disability, except by the authority of the secretary of war, and will prevent the former practice of fraud upon the government.

SKIN ECZEMA IN WORST FORM

Black Splotches All Over Face—
Produced Severe Itching—Year's Treatment by Physicians Did No
Good and Became Dependent—Affected Parts Now Clear as Ever
—Alabama Lady's

CURE BY THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

"About four years ago I was afflicted with black splotches all over my face and a few covering my body, which produced a severe itching irritation, and which caused me a great deal of annoyance and suffering, to such an extent that I was forced to call in two of the leading physicians of my town. After a thorough examination of the dreaded complaint they announced it to be skin eczema in its worst form. They treated me for the same for the length of one year, but the treatment did me no good. Finally I became despondent and decided to discontinue their services. Shortly afterwards, my husband in reading a copy of a weekly New York paper saw an advertisement of the Cuticura Remedies. He purchased the entire outfit, and after using the contents of the first bottle of Cuticura Resolvent in connection with the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, the breaking out entirely stopped. I continued the use of the Cuticura Remedies for six months, and after that every splotch was entirely gone and the affected parts were left as clear as ever. I have not felt a symptom of the eczema since, which was three years ago."

"The Cuticura Remedies not only cured me of that dreadful disease, eczema, but other complicated troubles as well; and I have been the means of others being cured of the same disease by the Cuticura Remedies, and I don't hesitate in saying that the Resolvent is the best blood medicine that the world has ever known." Lizzie E. Sledge, 540 Jones Ave., Selma, Ala.

Oct. 28, 1905. Sold throughout the world. Cuticura Soap, 25c. Ointment, 50c. Resolvent, 50c. (in form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 50c. per vial of 60), may be had of all druggists. For full and complete information, send for "The Skin Book," and "How to Cure Itching Humors."

AMUSEMENTS.

At Holland's Opera House, Monday night, March 18, "The Dances of the Nations," will be presented in all its splendor by thirty-black-faced comedian dancers in the performance offered by the Donnelly & Hatfield Magnificent Minstrels, under the personal direction of Al. G. Field. The act begins in the Middle Ages with the Spanish dancers of the proud Castillians, illustrating the sports and pastimes of the cruel age when the proud Senoritas applauded the brutal bull fight. From primeval America to "Bonnie Scotland," the next scene, carries the spectator in the twinkling of an eye. The home of "Bobby" Burns, the mountains at daybreak, the village in the valley of twilight, moonlight on the waters of the River Doone, the highland dancers and pipers. To old England's seagirt shore is the next transformation in the spectacle. The sea stretching out to the sky line, the sail to America. From the ice-bound coast of a Northern clime to the sunwarm South is the next change. The weird valley, the croaking of the frogs, the hooting of the old night owl. This scene is where the "Pumpkin man" and his imps do the vanishing dance, appearing and disappearing like the firefly at night. The climax of this most magnificent review is the transformation from the valley of the spooks to the sunny South.

TEACHING SHORTHAND

is like teaching any other study—every teacher employs a slightly different method, but nearly all teach the same basic principles.

In teaching shorthand, we use the Barnes Manual, compiled by Mrs. Arthur J. Barnes, of Barnes' College, the largest Commercial College in St. Louis. The author presents only the Genuine Benn Pitman system, but in the manner which her long and successful career as teacher and all-round reporter has shown her to be the best. Our pupils, therefore, get the benefit of her experience. Our course of study is thorough and our teachers competent and painstaking.
